

Reduce the Cost of Handpiece Infection Control Compliance

The lightweight, efficient and heat sterilizable prophy solution.

Let's simplify the CDC recommendations. If a semi-critical item (i.e., low speed handpiece) is heat-tolerant, it should be sterilized between patients. If it's heat-sensitive, you should not use it: Instead, replace it with a heat-tolerant or disposable alternative.²

Since replacement can be costly, talk to us about ēsa and the compliant, cost-effective ēsamate prophy system. ēsa disposable prophy angles fit the Midwest Shorty[®], Rhino[®] and Star[®] Titan[®] handpieces.³ So, if you already own these handpieces, put an ēsa on them and be compliant wherever you work.

If not, consider our ēsamate ST and new ēsamate MW lube-free low speed handpieces.

- Both are heat sterilization tolerant, 5,000 rpm, and backed by a 2-year warranty
 - Both offer proven air-driven performance; no recharging or batteries
 - Both are lightweight with a 360° swivel
- Best of all, both offer a simple, cost-effective solution to handpiece infection control compliance in all 50 states.
